INTRO

Searching for the right educational opportunity can be intimidating and overwhelming. Too often this means that students go to the obvious school instead of the right school. We decided it was about time to solve that problem so we created Noodle.

Brands are identities that each have an individual personality. Our identity is smart, fun, and simple. To maintain our brand we've created this document of brand guidelines.

3

LOGO USAGE

Our logo is a valuable asset to our brand. Just like using correct grammar, there is a correct way to use our logo.

1 NOODLE LOGO

The preferred use of the Noodle Logo is over a white/light background.

2 NOODLE LOGO (WHITE)

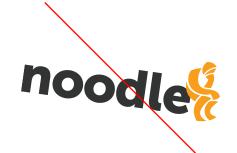

The logo with a white "noodle" may be used on dark backgrounds.

3 CLEAR SPACE

Please note the necessary clear space around the logo. Nothing should intrude into the specified clear space.

CATEGORIES

Each of Noodle's categories have a very specific purpose. The categories are broken out into three different sections.

1 FORMAL LEARNING

This includes all schooling from preschool through graduate studies.

2 LEARNING MATERIALS

Everything you could ever hope to find online for the hungry learner, from videos to games to courses.

3 INFORMAL LEARNING

Categories include supplemental activities to your formal learning.

K-12

Your Child's Education Comes First

Take the guesswork out of finding the right school for your child.

Meet Beth

Beth and her husband are moving the family to a different state for work reasons. Her three children are in different grades, so she needs to find a good school district for all of them.

How Noodle Can Help

Beth can start a K-12 search using her work location to identify what schools and districts are nearby. She can then easily compare all of her options, from private schools to charter schools. Each school has a district overview to help her get an idea for the community.

Meet Susan

Susan's son has been struggling in school, but she has noticed he does best when he gets individualized attention. Susan thinks a private school that has small class sizes would be a good fit for her son.

How Noodle Can Help

Susan can start looking for private schools a certain distance from her home. She can compare schools, read what others think, and be sent to other sources that help her find the right answer for her family.

Meet Daniel

Daniel lives in a city where he has multiple options for high school. He's interested in math and science and is curious what high school would match his interests.

How Noodle Can Help

Daniel can quickly identify all of the schools that will match his interests, keep notes on details like enrollment and activities, and share his findings with his friends. He can also find lots of great earning material on math and science to keep him busy while looking for the right school.

WHO WILL USE THIS SEARCH?

WHAT IS THE PROBLEM THEY ARE LOOKING TO SOLVE?

Parents want to choose a the right school for their child based on certain criteria. Students may be interested in switching schools and are searching for a more appropriately matched school.

GRADUATE

(Masters, PhD, Law, MBA, and Medical)

Meet Becca

Becca is finishing up her undergrad degree in English. She is looking for a graduate program to get her secondary education degree.

How Noodle Can Help

Becca can use Noodle's Graduate search to find a graduate education program. She knows she would like to teach in the upstate NY area, so she can filter her results to a specific location.

Meet Rachel

Rachel is hoping to attend a prestigious law school. She wants to understand the admission requirements and differences between each school location, price, and selectivity.

How Noodle Can Help

After entering her test scores and getting recommendations, Rachel can see how she stacks up against the incoming class and can get an overall feel for the school and student outcomes.

Meet Jeremy

Jeremy would like to attend a medical school that has a strong clinical focus. It is important that the school is affiliated with good teaching hospitals.

How Noodle Can Help

In Noodle's medical school search, Jeremy can select that he is interested in a school that has a more clinically focused academic program. He can then go into each school's profile and see all of the teaching hospitals affiliated with that school.
